Initially a twitter-sceptic, I have, in the last few years, found it an invaluable way of keeping up-to-date with what's going on in professional services. I look at twitter twice a day and sometimes I link through to posted articles; other times I just scan the 140-character posts. It's a great way of keeping on top of the news, understanding industry opinion and knowing who is doing what when.

Here are some suggestions for who to follow:
